TOURNAMENT REVIVED
Four Colleges Compete For Shield and Glory

The Four-Year Dim-out on Sport has been relaxed and once more the Universities of New Zealand assemble to celebrate this climax of the season. Chosen by its nuclear situation Wellington becomes the Mecca of students from Auckland to Otago. From Saturday morning to the Ball on Tuesday evening the plan is complete—event caps event as day merges into night.

Speculation is rife—the Shield, presented for the highest aggregate of points has been, since 1941, the unchallenged trophy of Otago: the Wooden Spoon, so often returned to Victoria, is at present the welcome guest of Canterbury. If the Tournament Committee has any rest it will not be by endeavour—results will be published by the press and announced over the radio.

The invasion will begin on Thursday, and continue on Friday. Over two hundred representatives will steam and sail into Wellington, welcomed by the most vociferous haka party VUC has heard for years. The next six days will be variously occupied with sporting and social events, including track sports, aquatic sports, blood sports, sports and cavorts; also cheering, jeering and beating to say nothing of singing and dancing, sleeping and eating, and other normal functions. The rest of the time you can spend as you feel inclined.

OFFICIALS

N.Z.U.A.
The Annual Conference of the New Zealand University Students' Association is normally included with Tournament arrangements. It will be held this year and will commence at 10.30 a.m. on Friday, March 30. We hope for a statement concerning the Exam. Fees protest.

TO OUR VISITORS
Wellington, they say, is inhospitable. The weather is always shocking. The city is not University minded. There is nothing to do, nowhere to go. This Easter will convince you that in spite of all this, Wellington is not the worst place to hold a Tournament. You will find that VUC can put on a rendezvous that will leave you staggering, that the barley is occasionally smooth enough for rowing, that VUC will give you a good run for your money in every sport, and not the least important, there is a large selection of excellent pubs. We have not done all we would have liked to because the difficulties of running a full-scale Tournament in wartime Wellington are immense. The smallest concession has to be wormed out of some complacent official, and as the city now houses a greatly increased population, billing has been a major hurdle. However, all arrangements have now been completed, and the success or failure of the enterprise now depends only on the weather, the spirit of the competitors, and the benevolent interest of the general public.

INFORMATION
In the Executive Room on the ground floor of the Gymnasium, Mr. Dave Cohen will set up an Information Bureau. He has a ready answer to all questions and will do anything for you, from finding your lost false teeth or your partner for the Ball to supplying the latest sporting results from all fronts. The telephone is 40-726, so lost souls in the outer darkness of Miramar or Muritai will receive instructions on finding themselves without difficulty.

The Bureau will also distribute tickets to all the sport and social functions, including the Ball.
College Overcrowding

Recently in this College the lecture rooms have become overcrowded to an alarming degree, and the shortage of teaching staff has been commented upon by innumerable people. Obviously the building and facilities are inadequate to meet the needs of the increased numbers of students whose education must suffer unless the position is alleviated. Owing to the war and the restricted building policy adopted by the Government there seems little hope of a building programme being inaugurated in the near future, but the question of providing additional tutors certainly deserves consideration as this would improve matters to some extent.

Interviewed, Prof. Gordon stated that he did not consider large classes detrimental to the students' general standard of work. Our classes are no larger than those of typical English provincial Universities. He said that the ratio of staff to students overseas is about 1:10, allowing for the great personal contact so valuable in a subject such as English. He thinks there is a fair strain on lecturers at Victoria. He himself is fortunate in having a loud-speaker system. Instead of overcrowding itself being a menace, Prof. Gordon thinks that it is a good sign, providing there are adequate staffing and accommodation facilities available.

The answer does not lie in cutting classes; if there is a demand on University education it is the job of the community to provide facilities. Large numbers are a sign of good tendency but the teaching is not being increased to meet the demand.

Staff Opinions

When approached Prof. Richardson stated that large Stage I classes were in his opinion not detrimental to student work, particularly in science subjects where students are ignorant of vocabulary, and personal contact would be of little value. As Stage I science classes are really cultural he considers large numbers are inevitable and desirable. The size of classes is equally bad overseas; for instance at Sir George William College, Canada, in 1929 there were 1500 to 1400 students. In 1943, 2000, and no tendency to decline was observed. In these Universities lecturing facilities, both in size and suitability of lecture halls and visual aids are very much better than at VUC. Prof. Richardson used a projection system for blackboard work by which the material was simply projected from his desk on to a screen. This was suitable and effective for 250. The staffing position was better as large numbers of specialist lecturers and tutors were provided to cater for greater specialisation by advanced students. At McGill a student attended 480 lecture hours during his degree course, whereas here he attends only 228. Our larger classes make comparable facilities impossible.

Most overcrowded of all is the Science Faculty. Mr. Monro, of the Chemistry department thought that the department was working at the absolute limit, if that. "I wouldn't understand if I was close up," he said. Yes, he did miss personal contact with his class, but what could they do? He was not in favour of limiting the number of first year students, but unless the Government came forward with help and a building project, the position would not be alleviated.

In the Physics department, from Mr. Peddie, whose last specific gravity bottle had just been broken, opinions came freely, but in the interests of student unity a great deal had better be off the record. "The Physics class this year," he said, "had grown far beyond the facilities intended for it, and owing to the miraculous number of Meds, further sub-division of the practical classes had been necessary. Student demonstrators had been called upon to help cope with the large numbers, and while the ideal would be a specially trained staff, the present organisation worked quite satisfactorily.

Prof. Florence, when interviewed, did well to point out that an increase in students should be welcomed rather than deprecated: in this technical world higher education is needed more and more. But he thought there should be some form of directing body to avoid the glut of students training for specialised courses. Adaptability was part and parcel of a good student, and he did not believe that careers would suffer in the least. As it was, facilities in his department became inadequate two years ago, but no concrete idea had yet been propounded in an endeavour to improve conditions.

Student Comment

Students in English 1 are so crowded that writing is difficult and uncomfortable. The speaker system is technically unsatisfactory. Those in the front row hear both the Prof.'s voice and the speaker voice, which, to make things worse, comes from behind them. Nothing can be heard at the back.

Students in Zoology 1 find that acoustics are good, but that the class is so crowded that lecture conditions are most unpleasant. There is too little room between tables and the chairs are jammed uncomfortably close.

Other students approached were singularly unhelpful. Responses varied from: "We always sit in the front anyway." to "I wouldn't understand even if I was close up."
Council Meeting

Hibberto students have remained ignorant of the functions of the governing body of the College, the College Council, which is responsible for the management of various sections of the community, including one student representative. Following are matters of student interest which were dealt with at the last two Council meetings, held on February 22 and March 22:

- Lodgings for Women Students.—It is possible that the formal residence of the Prime Minister may be acquired and converted into a student hostel with accommodation for about 20.

- American Editor's Lecture.—Ad-vice of a prospective visit from the Editor of the American publication "The Library Review of Literature," Mr. E. S. Candy, was received from the American Legation. A public lecture at the College may be arranged during Mr. Candy's visit.

- Weir House.—The Council adopted a resolution recommending the Weir House Committee asking for the cancelation of the regulation which required the locking of the side door at 11:15 p.m.

- Students.—The Council decided against free tuition for Chinese nationals on the grounds that it would be unwise to make any special concession to any one nationality.

- WEA Lectures.—The tentative schedule of WEA lectures for the 1945 session is as follows: Mr. H. S. Parker—Democracy and Bureaucrats, six lectures in public administration and the public interest; Mr. E. C. Simpson—ten lectures on art appreciation; Prof. L. A. Gordon—ten lectures on language; Mr. W. J. Scott—six lectures on reading to some purpose; Dr. J. D. Porter—thirty lectures on psychology; Prof. L. R. Richardson—ten lectures on biology; Mr. G. Mirams—ten lectures on the role of the film; Mr. K. R. Fursdon—twelve lectures on public speaking student; Dr. J. D. Porter—ten lectures on musical appreciation; Mr. E. Plache—ten lectures on home decoration and planning; Dr. J. Kahn—ten lectures on European problems in the post-war period.

- Student Union Building.—Professor Knight's report on the proposed site for the Student Union building has been received, and directed to the committee concerned for consideration and report.

- Enrolments and Accommodation.—The enrolments this session are already in advance of former years and the College lacks adequate staff accommodation and equipment. The roll is now 1240 and still increasing. It is hoped to improve the position somewhat by subdivision of the ground floor of the chemistry building and the provision of an Army hut 40 x 25.

- Medical Teaching Report.—This was considered in committee.

- Limitation of Numbers.—Unless enrolments remain constant, it is feared that the College may be overcrowded very soon, it may be necessary to limit enrolments, at least in certain classes.

Extrav. in Rehearsal

Peter Goes Through Looking Glass

Extrav., retreat of the bawdy, the drums, the social, and the perpetual undergrad., began with a bang last Friday when, in a gym, packed with eager students, Ron Meek, author/producer of this year's opus "Peter in Blunderland," chose his large cast.

The script this year is the most brilliant work yet. We've had in the long list of Ron's extravaganzas, and will, too, be the college's most difficult undertaking to date. The show runs in the Opera House from April 20 to 26; the cast and the backstage crew will work like slaves till then—but it will be worth it!

Rehearsals Doings

"Peter" will be produced to a fairly tight rehearsal schedule; no time will be wasted in the frequent practices. A light meal will be served on Sundays, and there will be the usual dances during the tea break. Extrav. romances will bloom and fade as in their wost, and post-extrav. dances will take place after each performance. The biggest social event of the year will provide work and fun for all concerned.

Important people during Extrav. include:

- Jack Bann, Extrav. Controller (he has had his say; see him if it's really important).
- Huddy Williamson, Stage Manager (his word is law on The Night).
- Alex McCread, Properties (a wicked job; return your props).
- Moira Wicks, Ballet Mistress (catch me if you can).
- Gwen MacDougal, Costumes (clothing coupons gratefully ac- cepted).
- Dave Cohen, Lynn Henderson, Music.

Film and Stage

Melodrama

GASLIGHT, Repertory's show, is an excellent play, excellently presented. Far from being a "little" play with "slight" plot, as it is dismissed in the Wellington papers, GASLIGHT is a genuine psychological study, entertaining and thrilling. The acting in this production was of a very high standard, and Zita Chapman, playing the tortured wife, rose to great dramatic heights. Howard Wadman, equally fine, played his part skillfully, never for a second overacting, as could quite easily have been done.

The plot is about a man who, already having one murder on his hands, radially and calculatingly proceeds to drive insane his distracted wife. He adopts a cut-and-dried technique of giving her small objects, stealing them back, and then, when she is unable to produce them on demand, tells her she is going mad. The character is a most unpleasant one, and what with him taking up with the pert maiden on the side and grippeeing about generally, I felt very glad when he finally got what was coming.

The set in this play was complete in its period detail and awfulness. All the trappings were there; the nets on the red plush curtains and the antimacassars and aspidistra and whatnot. One leaves that our current furnishing and styles will not look so fearsome in 50 years.

Repertory are to be congratulated on this fine presentation. The play isn't world-shaking, but it's a good deal better than most presented in Wellington.

New Films

A very fine film was tucked away in a small theatre last week. It was THE MALE ANIMAL, a brilliant American satire by James Thurber. Chase this to the suburbs if it comes round again. It's worth it.

The general run of films in the last week or two has been of a very low standard, the distributors obviously saving up for the holiday period—a short-sighted attitude, I must say. Some monster films are due to screen, including the widely billed SONG OF BERNADETTE and GOING MY WAY, both triumphs of propaganda for the organisation they are boosting.

If you can't stand the general run of films, and desire to see some of your old favourites, a small theatre here is carrying out a policy of "requests." Double features are screened, and, although it is impossible to see some of the worst films ever made, there is frequently a showing of a notable film of earlier days.
A SPORTING CHANCE

Shield or Spoon?

We present here lists of competitors in all events except the Drinking Horn, together with some ill-chosen remarks about form and prospects in each case. At the time of printing very little information is available about the teams from the other colleges, but we are confident that it will not be an unequal contest in any sport.

At some long-forgotten Tournament, Victoria, blown with pride, presented a wooden spoon as booby prize. The results of this rash action have been a bitter blow. The Spoon proved to be a boomerang and returned with depressing regularity. True, we had occasional bursts of brilliance, for we won the Tournament Shield in 1938, but after that relapsed into mediocrity. This year, however, even though we may fail to capture the Shield we are optimistic about keeping our Main Hall free from kitchen utensils.

TENNIS

With some months of hard practice behind it, the tennis team is now showing a high standard in all divisions. VUC players are also used to "Windy Teams," a Wellington specialty, which gives them a preliminary advantage. The team is as follows:—

Men's Singles:
Mr. B. M. O'Connor is a good allrounder, experienced in courtcraft. His service resembles that of Fred Perry, and when on top of his form he ranks comfortably in the top flight of Wellington players.

Mr. W. K. Snell has a diversity of technique and a match temperament that stand him in good stead. He specializes in deceptively short volleys and has a strong backhand that is difficult to return.

Ladies' Singles:
Miss Nancy Turner has had some success recently in interclub matches, which seems to indicate that she is in good form this year.

Miss Joyce Strange shows a consistent style, places effectively and has the right temperament for match play.

Men's Doubles:
Mr. B. O'Connor and Mr. W. Snell could, if they wanted to, sustain a fast pace and play a violent all-court game.

Mr. D. Goodwin and Mr. P. McKenzie are a younger pair but make an energetic combination. McKenzie's left-hand service is a valuable asset.

Women's Doubles:
Misses Nancy and Rae Turner have the advantage of having played together for some time. Both have a pretty style though Rae could improve the effectiveness of her strokes by displaying a little more confidence.

Misses Joyce Strange and Axis Brevd play an efficient double, combining virtuosity with steady play.

ROWING

The Rowing Club has undergone an amazing resurrection in the past six months and is now in a position to make a reasonably good showing at Easter.

Stroking the crew is Enoka Macdonald, whose years of experience in this seat should be a great asset to the crew.

One of the Star Boating Club's senior four, George Cornick, is using his style to good advantage as number seven, where his driving power will be of most use.

Tournament Ball

St. Francis Hall, Hill St., is the place, Tuesday, April 2, at 9 p.m. is the time. The culmination of all Tournament activities and the brightest Ball in years.

Visiting representatives free. VUC students, 15/- double.

Tickets at Information Bureau, Exec. Room.

Another novice showing good form is Gill Marquart, whose weight should tell in his position, number four.

Prominent all round sportswoman Drummond occupies number three, and his rowing experience at Otago and Wanganui will be an important factor in keeping the bow in good order.

Number two seat is well filled by the promising oar of Noel Brown. Rowing bow is Geoff Ward, who has held this seat in several Star crews. On the judgment and sure eye of cox Jack Beattie may hang the balance of defeat or victory for VUC.

The time is 2.30 p.m. on Saturday and an early announcement will be made about the course, whether Korokoro or Oriental Bay.

SWIMMING

Caths Eichelbaum will be competing against the present NZU champion and NZ record holder, M. Hewish, AUC in the 100 yards breaststroke event. Owing to medical reasons Cath has not been able to do a good deal of competitive swimming this season but she is nevertheless expected to turn in a good performance.

Marion Marwick and Pat Cummins are Victoria's representatives in the ladies' 50 yards Freestyle, and the College should do well in this event. Pat is also accompanying Pat Gardner (vice-captain) in the 100 yards backstroke, which is being held for the first time this Easter.

Of the men, Ken Stapley, Doug Kerr, and Dick Denton (of Massey) are the frontrunners to represent Victoria in swimming in both the 100 and 220, and although he may find the Thornton water slow his times indicate that he will overcome that difficulty. Doug Kerr is concentrating on the 220, while Stapley has the representative. Both are swimming consistently and have the necessary stamina for these distances.

The ubiquitous Bogle is Victoria's man in the backstroke and can be expected to swim in his efficient manner. Johnny Nicholls, the well-known hockey player, in the 220 yards breaststroke competition. He is now at Massey and I'm sure that there is no student who doesn't know him.

Together the team is a well-balanced one, which is expected to turn up on one or two surprises.

SHOOTING

Last year it was decided that the University Shooting Club should be re-founded in miniature rifles. With this in view Stan Campbell was on the job early in the year and on the 8th the first meeting was held and a provisional committee elected.

We have had two range practices at the Wellington Boys' College and their help is being much appreciated. The first shoot was for the selection of a Tournament team. Results leave little doubt as to who the best team has been selected for the Tournament. Geoff Streeter, Jim Lowther, H. E. Henderson, J. H. Bogle and John Zinman are putting up a good showing and we have high hopes.

The Tournament is to be held on a 100-yard range by courtesy of the combined Ngak-Oural Miniature Rifle Club and is to be held under NZMRC regulations.

We can only hope for fine weather, no wind and an absence of the usual fogliness of vision which follows eights of Tournament dissipation.
ATHLETICS

Particularly strong in some events, the Victoria team is in winning form generally—the contest will certainly not be dull.

T. H. Johnson (190 yds.) just missed representing Wellington in the NZ Junior Championships and should show up well.

J. F. Goldfinch and A. H. E. Munden, the former in the 220 and 440, and the latter in the 440, are both strong sprinters with little to choose between them. Munden won the Wellington Provincial 440 title, but Goldfinch has edged him in two races since and was third in the National 440.

Ian McDowell, VUC club captain, who finished fifth in the 889 National Championship, is getting into good form and has developed a beautiful finish. Accompanying him in the mile is Dicky Daniell, veteran college runner.

Versatile Owen Drummond has been allocated five events—129 and 220 hurdles, the pole vault, and the broad and high jumps. He is Provincial Champion in the first two.

Dave Tossman, the old man of the club, looks like a winner in the 440 hurdles, holding the Provincial title for that distance.

Gib Houle is accompanying Tossman and Drummond in the hurdles, but he has shown last season's form. He held the Provincial 440 hurdles title until it passed to Tossman.

BASKETBALL

In the practices the team has shown considerable promise, and all are looking forward to the matches with enthusiasm and with no little confidence.

One outstanding feature of the team is the inclusion of five Wellington Representatives: Dot Burke from Training College was a Wellington Rep. last year and a Hawke's Bay Rep. in 1942, in which year she made quite a name for herself in basketball; Brenda Moore in 1944, Norma Henderson in 1944, and Thea Muir in 1942-44.

BOXING

Although there are no outstanding personalities in the Victoria team, it is certainly a side to be reckoned with. Under the vigorous eye and tongue of Billy Heilcorn of Koillman’s Gym, fitness is the order of the day, and by Eastertime everyone should be in the pink of condition.

As heavyweight we have long-limbed H. C. (“Peter”) Faulkner, who, although new to Varsity boxing, looks formidable enough. A lad from the country, he should be well toughened to receive any punishment—and to give it.

Brendan O’Connor is well known in Varsity sporting circles and should more than hold his own in the welter-weight class.

For the lightweight division, E. T. Watt is a “tough nut” in the true sense of the word. As a Wellington rep. he narrowly missed the decision. It is in the lighter weights that Victoria mainly shines, and Allan Young is no exception. A feather weight of considerable Varsity boxing experience, he will be very unlucky to lose.

For the bantamweight, Brian Sutton-Smith is a boxer of class. Formerly one of Training College’s outstanding boxers, he is a man to be reckoned with.

Robyn Oliver, light-heavyweight, is an experienced boxer with considerable Varsity boxing experience, whose efforts in previous years have already gained him honours in the science.

Easter Monday morning and evening will see all these men in action at the Town Hall. The evening display will be heightened by two professional exhibition spars. Also a spectacular weight-lifting act will be presented by Anton Koillman’s Gym.

SOCIAL PROGRAMME

The programme looks like an attempt to exhaust you. Have a moment’s sleep from Thursday to Wednesday. Full details will be found in the Official Programme but we draw attention here to the following:

Thursday, 8 p.m.—Film evening and dance at VUC.

Saturday, 10 a.m.—Rendezvous at VUC.

Sunday, 8 p.m.—Film evening, “Wilson,” a preview at the Plaza Theatre.

Tuesday—Tournament Ball, St. Francis Hall, at 9 p.m.

Lone representative in the mile walk is R. L. Johnson, and with a little training he should do well.

With his long legs, Ash Conper will be prominent in the jumps, but it was his first time out last Saturday and he is also in need of training.

Don Beare, Training College surprise man, is our representative for the javelin, and his throw at the inter-college meeting went near to National standard.

D. Campbell (180 and 2200), D. K. Over (880), and D. Porter (4 miles), are all Massey College men, and consequently are largely unknown here. Owen is a well-points-winner.

Recently returned from the services is R. Miller, who will also be running in the 3 miles.

Victoria’s representatives in the field events are D. Persham, G. Stirling and D. W. Edwards, a returned man whose eligibility at present is doubtful.

A large gathering of supporters will be at Athlete Park. See that YOU are there.

OBITUARY
Pixie Higgin

The death of a student these days has become an occurrence so frequent that we are inclined to forget that it may mean an irreparable gap in the College life. Many of the finest men have left us and it is all the more tragic that Patricia (Pixie) Higgin should have died at this moment.

For all those who knew her personally her loss will leave a vacant that will never heal. She was the only woman student ever president of the Students’ Council, in second year she was chosen as business manager of the Debating Club, and in third year she was chosen as business manager of the Drama Club. So we are not surprised that the whole College was shocked.

Pixie’s work will not be lost if the men and women of Victoria will take that inspiration from her life that she gave her friends. This will be the best expression of sympathy that we can give Pixie’s parents and relatives.

New Committee

UNORTHODOX INDEED WAS THE ANNUAL ABBOTT MEETING OF THE DRAMA CLUB, HELD LAST TUESDAY NIGHT. DRAMA TUNES THIS YEAR SEEM TO BE MOSTLY FEMALE TUNES, BUT THERE WERE A FEW UNUSUAL TUNES IN THE PROGRAM.

THE MEETING WAS FOLLOWED BY A RUSHED READING OF A PLAY BY MR. NAOMI BALL, WHICH WILL BE PLAYED IN THE CONCERT CHAMBER.

A highlight of the evening’s entertainment was the reading of a poem by the newly elected committee. The poem was well received and the audience was impressed by the talent of the performers.

Debating Club opening
Greek Policy questioned

The opening meeting of the Debating Club was well attended, particularly by the freshmen and sophomore of the College. This house approves of General Scobie’s intervention in Greece, provided a subject which both the right and left students could debate with fervor. To hear them say that the Greek standard of civilization is not as high as the English standard is unusual, and although previously such criticisms have had little if any effect, the enthusiasm of the speakers, particularly from the floor, remains a characteristic of Victoria.

Mr. Zima recited the Seven Stages of Censorship for Greek news which resulted in the misinformation of the world and Mr. Churchill, who looked in vain for EAM criminal records.

Mr. Jack, having carefully perused the pamphlet “The Truth About Greece” and the “EAM Post,” plumped for the latter and General Scobie, dazzled by the concurrence of Bevin, Bevin, Citrine and Peter Fraser.

Mr. Neubug, speaking from the centre of the platform, appealed for more sincerity in the debate.

Mr. Cohen efficiently clarified the order of events and stressed that Gen. Scobie intervened despite the agreement reached by the Greeks themselves. He preferred the pamphlet published by the Maritime Union to the opinions of Sir Walter, “the check on British Imperialism.”

Mr. Witten-Hannah argued that the British Government’s hand must be strong if it was to be the platform to prove its case.

Miss Sim, enthusiastically acclaimed as the first lady speaker, denied the military necessity of Scobie’s intervention.

Mr. Gordon was very quietly at a loss to know why the EAM, if as strong as suggested, were unsuccessful in fighting the brutal British.

Miss Patricke suggested that EAM had been anxious to compromise. EAM was not a band of “vagabonds and terrorists” but an organisation administration of most of Greece with as good a legal title as the Hellenic Government.

Pros. and Cons.

That the British had benefitted from the intervention Mr. Palmer was convinced; therefore it was justified.

Mr. Jackson deplored this argument and considered the intervention in Greece a blow to democracy.

Mr. Abraham, self-styled Fascist, was at one with the audience in wondering why he was on the platform.

Mr. Williams said that General Scobie, following a “Timber”-hounded routine, had prevented a settlement by military action.

Mr. ? (alias Smith) was pleased about Marshal Tito but doubted if Greek democracy existed.

Mr. McBurnish gave a good review of the proceedings.

When the motion was put to the house it was lost by a two to one majority.

Mr. Farquahar gave a criticism of the speakers and placed them as follows:—Miss Patrick, Mr. O’Brien, Mr. Cohen, Mr. Hartley, Mr. Williams.

An innovation was introduced with the presentation of the American short “Prelude to War,” which was the first of a series of shorts shown by the Progressive Club. The film lacked in accuracy it certainly made up in sound effects.

The President, Mr. Campbell, opened the meeting proper with a hearty, if toothless, welcome to the audience which, he noted with approval, contained more than the usual proportion of ladies.

Mr. O’Brien, quietly and cynically, tried for the affirmative with an appeal to forget Fascism and Byron in this consideration of the “happy families” and gave a short sketch of the events leading up to General Scobie’s intervention and insisted that it was militarily necessary in order to preserve the peace of the district under his control. His second argument was the instability and immaturity of the Greek people in politics (Mr. Winchester: Socrates, for instance) which he demonstrated by the complicated history of riots, murders, foreign invasions and revolutions. This proved the Greeks did not know what they wanted.

A United People

Mr. Winchester denied the relevancy of his opponent’s arguments to the present-day situation. He pointed out that the EAM, which liberated Greece, were not rebels, but a cross-section of the whole country, whose respectability and intelligence were proved by the adherence of four professors. With the successful solution of the problem General Scobie had intervened, basing this on the disarmament of EAM but not right on the forces. The peace which General Scobie brought to Greece was the peace of Fascism.

With oratorical and naïve enthusiasm Mr. O’Connor assured the audience that Britain, having liberated and fed Greece, was morally bound to save her helpless people from shrewd politicians. He quoted Major Jordan to reinforce the reports of atrocities committed by the EAM. The success of General Scobie’s policy was proved by the present peace in Greece.

Mr. Hartley, backed by an impressive array of quotations, refuted Mr. O’Connor’s arguments. Far from feeding Greece the British Government starved the EAM out. The present government, a disgusting descendant of the unspoken Metaxas dictatorship, had no basis for British support. He quoted that capital in Greece in 1941 was one reason for Britain’s reluctance to withdraw.

Speaking from the floor, Mr. McIntyre deplored the Opposition’s putting its puny intelligence against the Three Minds of Yalta.

Gym Groans Under Strain

NOT EVEN EINSTEIN COULD have packed 800 palpating bodies into VUC's wooden gymnasium that Friday night, but the Social Committee managed it. When the prude battle began down below, masterminded by Stan Campbell and his assistants, students found themselves an integral part of the solid mass of swooning flesh and blood. Later arrivals draped themselves over the window sills, on coat hangers and lamp brackets, anything that would support weight. A general welcome was extended to the freshmen by Jack Barr, after which the troops moved upstairs. Then the band played. The many-headed monster slowly gyrated. Nevertheless all seemed to enjoy the crush. By midnight the floor had cleared sufficiently to allow Win Smiler and team to do several hulas. Two a.m. saw proceedings brought to a close, Victoria hopes for more like this, but, perhaps, in a new gym.

Exec. Meets Full Agenda

The Executive held their second meeting of 1945 on March 15. Of prime consideration was the proposed student building; but all decisions depended on the special meeting held the next week. The balance of the cerebrospinal was spent on appointments and proposals for this year's medical scheme.

Before proceeding it was necessary to fill the vacant seats left by Max Eichelbaum and John Walton. Joan Sim and Marjorie Twooney were accordingly nominated. Also assigned to duties, it was reported, is a liaison officer with T.C.

The club agenda embodied a request for affiliation from the Miniature Rifle Club, which was granted. Permission was also accorded the Drama Club to present their latest play, "Ways and Means," at Trentham.

Included in the 1945 list of ordnance, Margaret Rogan was designated General Editor of "Spit," with Dave Cohen as College Editor. Mr. Peter Munz becomes editor of "Rostrum." Convener of the Social Committee is Vivienne Rich with Gib Bogle as secretary, Gwenn McDowall, Margaret Anderson, Guy Evans, Piers Abraham, and Bob Baracalough as committee.

Appointed controller of the undergraduates' Supper, May 2, Margaret Anderson has as assistants Margaret Beatle, Joan Sim and Jack Barr.

Finally resolved were three points on this year's medical scheme:

1. The scheme is to be compulsory with slight appeal.
2. The Council is to be approached for a 1 for 1 grant to pay expenses of doctors' honorarium, amounting to £300 per year. With 1200 students a 2/6 increase on the health fee would just half cover the students' share.
3. The Council is to be asked to buy an army but as soon as possible for the use of the scheme.

IRC Shows Film at Annual Meeting

THERE WAS A RECORD-BREAKING attendance of over 300 at the Annual General Meeting of the IRC. Cohen, Oliver, Witten-Hannah, Williams, Wilson and Miss Holm. A showing of the interesting and remarkably progressive film, "World of Plenty," followed. High enthusiasm is expected among members this year. Those interested are requested to watch the notice-board for announcements.

S.C.M.

THE FIRST SOCIAL MEETING of the year of the Student Christian Movement was the welcome to Fresher and this took the form of a hike, and a picnic at Wilson's Bush on Saturday, March 17. About thirty members met for the picnic, including ten new students. From all accounts everyone had a very good time and this marks a good beginning to the year's activities.

The Corresponding Member NZUSA wants a secretary; work amounts to about 4 hours a week and pay £20 per annum.
Building Plan Approved
Finance Question Deferred

The Special General Meeting last Wednesday recommended the draft specifications for the projected Students' Union Building with a few amendments, but failed to reach any decision on the raising of the Stud. Ass. fee. The meeting was poorly attended, the quorum of fifty being barely attained.

Jack Barr, in the chair, explained the procedure of the meeting. He was followed by Dick Daniel, moving that the specifications be adopted as they were. Daniel spoke of the necessity for a suitable building, capable of lasting 250 years complete with a proper theatre with box seats, and a large dance hall. "Dancing is the most popular sport in the College," he said. A separate building would house the gymnasium, which could not easily be doubled with the dance hall or theatre.

Stan Campbell, seconding the motion, praised the Excu for bringing forward the question of the Concourse, Cafeteria and Committee Room for the future and be progressive," he said in closing. After some further explanations by the chairman, the meeting was thrown open for discussion.

Building Discussed

Mr. Blakie demanded that we should not limit future Execs. by definite plans. Mr. Connell said that this would only lead to deferring the issue. Pat Macaskill pointed out that here was an opportunity for the students to express their requirements to the building committee.

Several speakers then put in a plea for a raked floor in the theatre. "There is not a single decently equipped theatre in Wellington," said Dennis Hartley. The Cafeteria was generally approved after an assurance by Jack Barr that the best architectural opinion would be consulted. The committee rooms were subject to comment by Dick Jackson on sound-proofing, and by Bernie Swedlund and Jack Williams on the grounds of size.

Mr. Blakie then repeated his earlier pleas about considering future generations, to which Dennis Hartley replied strongly, pointing out that such an attitude was a bar to progress. Jim Witten-Hannah moved two amendments, the first of which was ruled out of order, and the second: "That in approving the draft specifications the meeting does not necessarily commit itself to taking immediate action in building," was, after some discussion, lost.

Minor Amendments

Dick Jackson moved that the building be strong enough to hold an additional storey if necessary. Some confusion arose when Bernie Swedlund wished this changed to "That provision for extensions be made." The amended amendment was carried. Dick Jackson then moved that he wanted to make a further amendment. This was to provide facilities in the Caf. for 200 sitting at supper at dances, with direct access to the dance floor. Dick Jackson created a division by suggesting that supper would be superfluous at dances, anyway. This and an amendment by Jack Williams to increase the size of the dance hall by 1,000 sq. ft. were carried.

After a short reply by Dick Daniel, the motion approving the amended specifications was carried unanimously.

Finance Position Outstanding

The meeting then proceeded to deal with the second motion. Ian McDowell gave a sketch of the financial position, pointing out that the fee charged at VUC was less than in the other colleges, and yet entitled one to free membership of all clubs. The 7/6 of the 7/6 to be allocated to the building fund would mean 250 a year, and the extra shifting for administration was a very moderate demand. Gip Bingle, seconding the motion, discussed the 7/6 to be devolved to the medical scheme, which might in future be made compulsory.

Kevan O'Brien questioned the validity of an increase under the stabilization regulations. He compared the position with that of the Exam. Fees. The inevitable Blakie voted a strong objection against compulsion in any form ("Who do the Exec. think they are, anyway?") and supported the question of the building fund being at club meetings. Dennis Hartley did not like the idea of compulsory medical examinations and moved that the question of levying an extra 7/6 be put at a special general meeting of all students at the beginning of each year. Pat Macaskill replied that the medical scheme could only be made compulsory by the Council. There are a number of bogeys being raised," he said. As Exec. duties increased, costs must rise. Ian McDowell reminded that VUC is the only college without a full time Stud. Ass. assistant and Daisy Fillmer pointed out that the medical scheme could not continue unless it were assured of finance. Stan Campbell wished to move as an amendment to the amendment that the question be put on the ballot paper at the elections, but this was ruled out of order as negative of the amendment. After some rather disgruntled discussion, Bernie Swedlund moved that the amendment be put. It now read: "That the question be put at the general elections this year." It was lost on the division.

Dorin Saker had hard words to say on the theme that the question of dividing the 7/6 had been "sprung on the meeting." It was not right that 50 people should dictate to 1,500. More discussion followed until Laurie Starkie moved: "That this meeting adjourn to give further publicity to the raising of the Stud. Ass. fees." This motion was carried by a large majority.

Maths and Physics

A large gathering was present last Thursday at the first meeting of the Maths and Physics Society for the election of officers and to hear Dr. J. T. Campbell, who spoke on "Physical Problems and Mathematical Models."

FOOTBALL

The annual general meeting of this Club, held on March 14, was attended by an encouraging number of potential players, and the committee has every hope of this season being a most successful one. Any players who wish to turn out for Varsity and who were not at the meeting, are urged once more to come along to the committee or to fill in a team slip, of which there is a supply in the caretakers' store.

The following officers were elected:

At present it is not known how many teams will be entered in the MPU competitions but the number will probably be at least four. The number of teams to be entered will depend upon the number of players available, and for that reason everyone in the least interested in football is urged to turn out to the first Club practice. (Watch the notice board for details.)

The Club hopes that the following games will be played this year:

TRAMPING

The Tramping Club is on the march! The first weekend was spent in the Titahi Bay area and this week-end saw some of the select trudging over the Orongorongo Mountains. The majority of the party had never been in this locality before and, in spite of missing sand flies and mosquitoes there were no fatalities.

This is only the beginning of many enjoyable "trips," so roll along and support your Trampin' Club. Watch the notice-board for information about outings and especially for a notice about the General Meeting.
