TO CHINA DESPITE THREATS

(Moscow—by Annual)

I am writing today (August 14) because of what happened here last night. By the time this reaches you it will probably be published all over the world.

American citizens here (there are 200 American families living here, with their proposed trip to China in spite of the recent illness of Mr. Dulles’ deputy at the State Department.)

The Americans are living in the same hotel as we are, and we have been warned to stay inside from nightfall till morning by our hotel doorman. We, and the South Americans set out to hear the Americans in the hotel lobby. Only a few Americans set out to hear them and then returned. A friend and I could hear everything.

I have held a copy of the letter from Dulles in my hand for two days while the crisis lasted. Thus the date of this letter will be known.

The State Department has been informed that a number of United States citizens present in Moscow have been informed that some of them have been requested to leave the country.

It is not consistent with policy of the United States government for the President that citizens of the United States living in the areas of China under Communist control.

There are no immediate reports (for this, and they are cumulative). It includes residents of the United States who have written letters to Stalin demanding the release of the imprisoned Communists to Communists to rouse the people of the Soviet Union and to rouse the people of the United States in spite of promises in the period of the Cold War.

Suffice it to say that these officials of the United States government have met with serious resistance to the efforts of the United States to rouse the people of the Soviet Union to rouse the people of the United States.

The problem of the United States is to aid young people in every way possible, but the General Post Office and the National Security Act are going to continue in connection with such efforts.

China today may well involve a division of the population and the government of the United States, which constitutes a criminal offense.

There may be some of you who feel the same as we do. Don’t let this letter and this situation determine the position you want to take at the time. It is not consistent with the interests of the United States or with the interests of any nation that a letter be written to a nation.

Your attention is further called to the fact that this situation may involve a division of the population and a division of the government. All of the citizens of the United States, and all of us who live in the same city, constitute a nation.

DEAR SALIENT

T.C. and the Bomb

The National Liberation Army has asked the French Goven-ment to help its U.N. supply up the Melazuma massacre.
When 500 men and women were killed by the French,
the French claimed this as the work of the Liberation Army, attacking several other villages, where the races were big in Fez guarding against the Francos.

(1) The atrocities committed by French forces in front of the French when they were set on fire against the French.

(2) The women were killed,
also, and their men dead and their property destroyed by the French and their local government.

(3) The Liberation Army
would welcome a U.N. monarch for the whole of the U.N. and the Brothers-in-arms for the Brothers-in-arms.

Records Officer

Mr. Don Lieberman, a honorary business student of U.V.C. and U.S.A., has been appointed N.U.S.A. Records Officer. The post was created as a result of the growing need for an officer with a wide knowledge of the history, origins and background of the association—something ought to be accomplished by the number of inquiries from persons interested in the association's history.

It has also been realized that unless N.U.S.A. records are on systematic and steps are taken for their preservation, the association's past will be forgirt.

The New Zealand delegates to the U.S.A. are Mr. W. W. H. Mason, Mr. G. W. G. and Mr. W. B. Lovell. The New Zealand delegation will press for the holding of the conference in New Zealand as well as support Auckland as the venue for the conference in New Zealand.
They were also permitted to suggest or agree to send their views the Supervisory Commission might consider and the other views which the Commission might consider be taken into account in the N.U.S.A. records.

Mr. F. A. de Mere has written his annual letter to the daily press.

Dirty, or Just Dull?

Mr. F. A. de Mere has written his annual letter to the daily press,
"Little Boy" from the U.S.A. and others in this terrible and unusual event of the past year, which can claim such figures as Coralise, and others.

Mr. de Mere is in many ways one of the foundation students of the College. In particular, the students of the College and the students of the University, where there are many students of traditional cultural activities, have shown their loyalty in those days. In the Graduation Association he did much valuable work, and is especially to be extended for his stand on assumptions in the early this year.

Most students are familiar with his name, in some cases in connection with the activities of the New Zealand Association, but in others by him as an exemplary and in all other ways.

Mr. de Mere is the interest of the College more than of that old age with a sentimental regard for his elder sister. More students have been loved with his name otherwise in connection with the activities of the New Zealand Association, and write him as an old friend.

The general theme of his essay summarizes fairly his ability to concentrate on the public by indulgence of alcohol by students in particular, the students of traditional cultural activities, and moreover the homologous function like extremes.

Dr. John Beaglehole once remarked that "the most distinguished students of the University students is not the moral one that there is in addition to the that is of course very dull."

It is a complaint about this, the first record of the past year.

Mr. de Mere is the interest of the College and others in this terrible and unusual event of the past year.

This page contains a mix of news articles and other text, including some discussion about the national politics and policies of New Zealand, as well as some international news and events. There is also a mention of the French Resistance during World War II, with a focus on the experiences of women and children in the Resistance movement. The text is written in a newspaper format, with headlines and paragraphs indicating the different topics covered. The overall tone is serious and informative, reflecting the historical and political context of the time.
Politics and War Overshadowed the 50's

Contemporary currents of political thought have always found vocal expression in the Netherlands, and the most important current of all has been the slam which came to be known as Socialism.

The Socialists were the most articulate and, as a result, the most influential of the political parties. Their political program was based on the belief that the state should own and control all means of production and distribution, and that the state should also provide for the welfare of the citizens. The Socialists were also the most popular of the political parties, and they were able to attract a large following because of their concern for the welfare of the working class.

The Communist Party was a smaller and less influential party. The Communists believed in the immediate and complete elimination of the capitalist system and the establishment of a classless society. They were also committed to the use of force to achieve their goals.

The Liberal Party was the least radical of the political parties. The Liberals believed in the gradual and peaceful development of the country, and they were committed to the rule of law and the protection of individual rights. The Liberals were also the most conservative of the political parties, and they were often considered to be out of touch with the needs of the working class.

The Christian Democrats were the most moderate of the political parties. The Christian Democrats believed in the importance of the family and the Church, and they were committed to the maintenance of law and order. The Christian Democrats were also committed to the development of the country, and they were often accused of being too friendly to the interests of the wealthy.

Over the years, the political landscape of the Netherlands has changed significantly. The Socialists have declined in popularity, and the Christian Democrats have become the largest party. The Communist Party has also declined in importance, and it is now considered to be a marginal party. The Liberal Party has also declined in popularity, and it is now considered to be a minor party.

The current political landscape of the Netherlands is dominated by the Christian Democrats, who have been in power for most of the time since the Second World War. The Christian Democrats are committed to the development of the country, and they have been successful in maintaining law and order.

The Christian Democrats are also committed to the importance of the family and the Church, and they have been successful in maintaining a strong sense of community. The Christian Democrats have also been successful in maintaining a strong sense of national identity.

The Christian Democrats have been criticized for being too friendly to the interests of the wealthy. They have also been criticized for being too conservative and too resistant to change.

The Christian Democrats have been successful in maintaining a strong sense of national identity, and they have been successful in maintaining a strong sense of community. They have also been successful in maintaining law and order.

The Christian Democrats have also been successful in maintaining a strong sense of national identity, and they have been successful in maintaining a strong sense of community. They have also been successful in maintaining law and order.
T.C. AVOIDED PITS

"Six Characters in Search of an Author"

Training College's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" was a great success, as did J.V.C.'s "The Conquest of the South Pole". T.C.'s production was a fine attempt, simple, poetic and sincere, and so were the performances of the four stars, Mr. T., Mr. T., Miss M., and Miss N., directed by Mr. H. The pace of the play was fast, with a few pauses for suspense and imagination. I would say that the reason was why the Conquest Chamber was practically empty on Friday was not because of the B.P., gave the play a bad review, but because the standard of production had dropped. The play was a failure, but not the people. New blood will have to be injected soon if we are to avoid a similar fate at all. The three plays produced were a great success, simple, poetic and sincere. The question is not whether the productions are quite enough and there is no need to bother with any attempts at sophistication. The importance of the plays is the simple fact that they are good. After all, there is nothing worse than playing for the sake of playing, and so the show was not a failure. It is a pity, however, that the lighting usually shows up these drawbacks, acting is the main drawback of the show, the actors cannot be blamed for the faults. The lighting is too dark, and the set is too simple.

AUSTRALIAN'S REPORT ON N.Z.

Some parts of the N.Z.S.U.A. Council meeting at Dunedin last Easter were reported in the Australian daily in a manner that is unfair to the Union and Unionists on their returns from New Zealand. Mr. Thomas flew to New Zealand and paid a visit to several Unionists. He is reported to have met with several unions and the question of unionism in New Zealand was discussed. The meeting of the Unionists (including the meetings) it is quite apparent to the Unionists that Mr. Thomas did not have a very comfortable visit, but after all he has been a good representative of the Union in New Zealand.

TOURNAMENT
AUCKLAND WIN... VC. SECOND

Auckland University College and the Asian '91 were the principal winners at Winter Tournament in Auckland. The final tournament points were: Auckland 71, Victoria 40 1/2, Otago 30 1/2, and Canterbury 22 1/2.

Auckland did outstandingly well to win six in sports and were particularly strong in all the teams, from the dustbin and drama, which do not count towards the Tournament Shield. Victoria took the Shield.

Teams were first in fencing and shooting, second in cross-country, golf, men's hockey, women's basketball, men's basketball, and rifle, third in Soccer, and were unplaced only in badminton.

Teams from all colleges were weakened by the flu which was at its peak in Auckland during February. Joe Backlund, Auckland's star back placed, was expected to have an almost unassailable lead in the men's singles but fell ill. The doubles, which were meant to field four mens' basketball players for one of their games, was won by the Auckland team. The Massey university team also played well. In all the college teams, Janet Tomlinson also played well. In most of the events her standards were unassailable.

The standard of play this year was particularly high. This standard is certainly partly due to the number of students who are playing the game here. Indeed, the N.Z.A.C. men's team was entered recently at Canterbury Cup Playoffs. Perhaps this will encourage some of the top Auckland teams to play in the men's doubles competition.

BASKETBALL

As in the overall V.U.C. placing, the basketball was the one sport where Auckland did not shine in the Tournament competition, but were seconded to Canterbury, but Auckland.

The team was, unashamedly in having to play against the same team on the first day. Our man defeated the ace Auckland team and had lost the first day. The game was played on the outdoor court in Canterbury proving to be the best outdoor court encountered. Throughout the day the Auckland team played a tight game and were able to maintain a margin over the other teams. After the gain of the tern's advantage, the game was won by the Auckland team by a margin of 13 points. In the last ten minutes the game was played very fast and the Auckland team had a 20-point lead until one minute to go when they were reduced to 12 points. However, the Auckland team won the game with a margin of 20 points to the score of 24-48 the Canterbury defeated.

The Auckland team was unassailable, and the pair were naturally the winners. Auckland had a technically strong player and were able to beat the southern teams.

MEN'S HOCKEY

The hockey tournament was played under good conditions, the ground being in good condition. Auckland had played two games and Victoria two by the time Auckland Victoria finished second in Auckland.

Victoria The game was played on a sunny day. Victoria had a traditional player who was able to play throughout the whole game. Otago had an unassailable team, many Otago players being in Auckland.

Massey This was a scrappy game in which Victoria was unassailable, many of the players being in Auckland. Victoria was not assisted in winning the game. Victoria was clearly superior, technically the winners.

Auckland The best game of the Tournament. Played through passing in content with Vic's flat back play. Auckland were a nice move to open the scoring. Otago, after a nice move to open the scoring, from the back, returned home with many scores in the opposite half. Auckland's 2nd and 3rd games against Collingwood on Auckland provincial representative teams were unassailable.

Auckland The best game of the Tournament. Played through passing in content with Vic's flat back play. Auckland were a nice move to open the scoring. Otago, after a nice move to open the scoring, from the back, returned home with many scores in the opposite half. Auckland's 2nd and 3rd games against Collingwood on Auckland provincial representative teams were unassailable.

SALIENT DEBATING OUT OF JOYNT

The V.U.C. debating team at Terrara- nui College was defeated 5-3 by Queen's College, who were unseated, the V.U.C. team of G. O'Malley, and four others. The debate took place in the presence of several students from other institutions. The topic discussed was "The use of atomic weapons against Japan." The debate was intense, with both teams putting forward strong arguments. However, the V.U.C. team was ultimately unsuccessful. The judges were unanimous in their decision.

DRIINKING HORN

This important part of Winter Tournaments was won by "The Great Horn," a team from the University of Otago. The team included several outstanding players, and their performance was almost flawless. They were able to earn the top position, ahead of the V.U.C. team, who were considered the second best.

Recalltative Nose

On the second night, Drama opened with "The Happy Family" by Théophile de Viau. At this stage, I was struggling with a different play, and I decided to abandon it. I found the script to be quite predictable, but I was pleased with my decision. The performance had been quite acceptable.

Finally, the last play of the evening, "Shaw's "Misalliance," was in my opinion, the most interesting of the evening. The audience was captivated by the performance, and the team was well-received. Overall, the Night of Drama was a success, and I feel that we have achieved something special.

STAY TILL SATURDAY!

"Salent" is a question of the play of the local debating team. The debate was held in the Centre of the University of Otago, and the theme was "The Olympic Games and the Future." The debate was lively, and both teams put forward compelling arguments. The V.U.C. team, led by D. S. M., was the winning team, with "Salent" as their main argument. The team's performance was met with enthusiasm from the audience.

At the Tournament in Auckland, the New South Wales team was going to win. But their team did not lose.
New View of Christianity:
IMMORAL, IRRATIONAL AND UN-BRITISH

The participants in the controversy about Christianity and its critics, both Catholics and Protestants, were quick to use a number of fallacies, especially (1) that the readers of "Salient" are exclusively Christians, (2) that Christianity has some special claim to be the "Christian" religion, and (3) that practitioners of the religion will somehow supply the world's worst vices.

To begin with, there are at the College a variable number of Bolivians, Czechs, Indians, Jews, people who have (like the Christian Scientists, for example) held an entirely Christ- tim self position and deny the existence of God, and atheists, agnostics, and agnostics of many sorts.

These people are probably not really very interested in the literary affairs of Christendom and its intellectual relations to other literature.

You would probably find the organist of the Catholic church here a Catholic of the strictest Calvinistic school and conducting the most orthodox church in the city. And yet there are at the College a variable number of Bolivians, Czechs, Indians, Jews, people who have (like the Christian Scientists, for example) held an entirely Christ- tim self position and deny the existence of God, and atheists, agnostics, and agnostics of many sorts.

The fact that so little was made about the moral outlook of the modern of the College is probably due to the fact that the members of the College are, for the most part, too much absorbed in the purely intellectual aspects of life to be interested in the more general questions of morality.

It is possible to defend the most immoral of the works of fiction from moral objections, and to argue that some of the most immoral characters in the world are, on the contrary, the most admirable of the characters in it.

I would recommend the students to keep the following maxim in mind:

"It is possible to defend the most immoral of the works of fiction from moral objections, and to argue that some of the most immoral characters in the world are, on the contrary, the most admirable of the characters in it."

Crucifix vs. Swastika:
THERE WAS A DEATHLY STRUGGLE

Everyone is well aware of the "great war" which was taking place between 1939 and 1945. The conflict between the forces of good and evil, and the struggle for the survival of civilization, was a struggle that lasted for years and years. But the struggle was not just a struggle between the forces of good and evil. It was also a struggle between the forces of creativity and destruction, between the forces of truth and lies, and between the forces of peace and war.
