SIDELIGHTS ON SEPTEMBER

Views and Reviews

Britain boomed freely once more! The war was really over. Mr. Chamberlain, it was said, had made a splendid peace. But the peace was only a cold peace. The Czechs and the Poles were not satisfied. Paris and Berlin were still at loggerheads. The world was in a state of uncertainty."

The editor of the "Daily Express" describes the present situation as a "temporary" one. He believes that the world will soon return to normal. "The world is waiting for peace," he says. "The people are tired of war and want to get back to their normal lives."

"The Mikado" and "All Quiet"

Converse an unsavoury stage "Mikado" with an American crooner in the latest big production of "All Quiet," an intense and universal war story, and you have an audience and a performance of which any opera company may be proud.

The Mikado is presented by the Savoy Theatre five years ago and is now one of the most popular of the series. Yet, despite its elegant treatment, its serious theme and the protagonis, we are resiliently to the thrust of its music: a version that is far removed from the original operetta.

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN

This month, the Savoy returns to its roots with "The Mikado," a hilarious and serious musical. Although we had seen several photo and lyric sets for similar works, we see absolutely nothing that was not on stage. Bob Room, the vivifying member of the Savoy Theatre, will be in charge of the production.

NOAH'S ARK

The black panther was in the zoo today, his eyes like lime green ball. A gorilla—like a retired heavy weight boxer, all of the strength of his body lying dormant beneath his shaggy coat, took his late dinner out of his arm.

The hippo was squatting in the snow, showing nothing but his ears protruding from the snow. The sea lions sat up, basking in the moonlight, showing off their confident mien.

ZOO

(“Zoo” —by Louis MacNeice, Michael Joseph. Our copyright from Whitcombe and Tombs—13/6).

Louis MacNeice, who wrote "The Play of the Century," has written a book, whose subtlest four or five words, are worthy of writing in English at the present time. For, he has taken the style of the English language for his own, and has given it a modern twist.

"Zoo" is a literary diversion; a study of nature without the intruding talk, with "mutes" of "natural" existences, which one might think of as mere forms of words. To love and to live, to be alive and to be. A form of words which is a thought, a thought which is a form of words.

HARRIERS

Although attenuations have been enforced on the Harriers’ usual legend, the 6th of May saw the Harriers on the track, including five at their regular Cheshunt venue.

On 4th May a course of about six miles was held at Baker Park, Newmarket. The novices were divided into two categories, Newbouy, and New Strategy, and Newbouy won the former by 7 1/2 lengths, Newbouy finishing O’Hara of Newbury at the line.

The race was won on 20th May at a trackercise at The Bury.

SHREWSBURY CUP

The Shrewsbury Cup final was held at Parkhead, on the 20th of May. The race was won by the four-year-old filly, Newbouy, ridden by Newbouy. Newbouy was trained at the stable of Mr. G. C. Shrewsbury, of Parkhead, and was ridden by Newbouy. Newbouy was trained at the stable of Mr. G. C. Shrewsbury, of Parkhead, and was ridden by Newbouy.

MEN’S HOCKEY

The final of the Varsity Men’s Hockey Championship was held at Christchurch, on the 21st of May. The team that had previously won the championship was Cambridge University.

The final was played between Cambridge and Oxford Universities. The game was a closely fought one, with Cambridge taking an early lead. However, Oxford fought back strongly and equalized early in the second half. The game remained level until the last minutes, when Cambridge scored a crucial goal to secure the championship.

Let us examine the scale of the Acts of Parliament which have been passed by the Government, and the effects of the Government’s policies on the economy.

One of the most notable effects of the Government’s policies on the economy has been the increase in the cost of living. The increase in the cost of living has had a significant impact on the purchasing power of the average citizen. The Government has taken steps to combat inflation, but the effects are still felt by many.

The Government has also been criticized for its handling of the economy. The high levels of unemployment and the slow pace of economic growth have led to calls for more aggressive policies to stimulate the economy.

In conclusion, the impact of the Government’s policies on the economy has been significant. The Government has taken steps to address the issues, but the road ahead remains uncertain.
